

HIGH SCHOOL FOR MURRAY

Plan of Superintendent Ashton.

Smelter Town Needs Accommodations for Pupils in Higher Grades.

Plan Is Favored by Teachers and Parents—Several Schools Are Reopened.

A High school for Murray is a scheme which County Superintendent of Schools Ashton has at heart at present. There has been considerable talk of having one at the smelter town and both the authorities and the population, as well as the teachers, feel that it is not only desirable, but necessary, with the growing population of Murray and the distance from Salt Lake, where the pupils of the High school grade now have to go.

Expense Will Be Light.

"The expense would be comparatively little in addition to the present cost of running the Murray schools," said Superintendent Ashton yesterday. "With an extra tax levy of one-half mill the necessary money could be raised and it would be very little felt. And, considering that the tax valuation of Murray is $1,500,000, I think that it certainly is time they had a High school there. There would be about twenty pupils to start with. These could be accommodated in some of the rooms, in either of the two schools in Murray, districts 21 and 25."

Superintendent Ashton said that he anticipated starting the High school there in a short time, and that the plan was meeting with universal approval.

The Draper school, which has been closed on account of diphtheria, was opened this week. The schools of districts 27 and 28 also are open now, the former in a new building. The Union school is still closed. The building has been fumigated and will be opened soon. Extra teachers have been appointed for the overflow schools in districts 24 and 26, Murray, and 29, Sugar House, where the attendance has been very large.

WANTED CHINESE GORE.

Alleged Drug Fiend Starts an Anti-Chink Crusade in Plum Alley.

With a Chinese dagger eighteen inches long clamped in his right hand, P. M. Stewart, said by the police to be a drug fiend and addicted to the use of opium, ran up and down Plum alley yesterday afternoon screaming at the top of his voice and uttering blood-curdling threats against the Chinese residents of the alley. In an attempt to Americanize a Chinaman named Wan Chin by cutting off his pig tail, Stewart ran foul of the police. He asked to be allowed to go home, and Sergt. Roberts, after disarming him, advised him to do so. A few minutes later a herd of Chinese led up the alley and called on Officer Simpson to protect them from Stewart, who, deprived of his dagger, still persisted in chasing the denizens of the alley and threatening them.

Sergt. Roberts and Officer Simpson caught the man, who fought them every inch of the way to the police station, where he was booked on a charge of drunkenness and using abusive language.

In Stewart's pockets were found a box of morphine tablets and a vial of "Ten Shu," the last being the scrapings from opium pipes, which is chewed by opium fiends. He also had a skeleton key, a pipe and a cotton key.

CALLS IT SPITE WORK.

Owner of Advertising Wagons Says Ordinance Is Unconstitutional.

"It is my opinion that Chief Lynch could better occupy his time getting after some of the real violators of law rather than devoting his attention to the passage of new laws aimed at legitimate business propositions," said G. B. Fox yesterday when the matter of the proposed ordinance prohibiting advertising wagons and the carrying of banners on the streets was brought to his attention. Mr. Fox is in the business of providing decorated wagons for advertising purposes, the business has proved reasonably profitable, and Mr. Fox, quite naturally, doesn't relish the idea of having a ban put upon it by councilmanic enactment.

"It is safe to say," continued Mr. Fox, "that the advertising wagon doesn't frighten as many horses as does the automobile, and there is no more reason for banishing it from the streets. It interferes with no other legitimate business. I don't believe that the proposed ordinance would be constitutional, and I have no idea that the council can be induced to pass it. It has been brought up merely as a piece of spite work."

"The wagons have carried their banners as usual yesterday, but the patient, intelligent donkey, with clown accompaniment, was not in evidence, nor could his manager be found. So that it is not known whether the donkey has been frightened away by threatened adverse legislation or was simply taking a day off."

MR. HAYDEN'S VIEWS

GIVES HIS OPINION OF THE BEST TREATMENT FOR PARALYSIS.

Declares That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored the Use of His Limbs When All Other Remedies Failed.

The pressure of modern life creates so great a strain that few are free from the dread of using up their supply of nervous energy and thousands are already crippled and utterly discouraged.

All such will welcome the account here given of an instance of complete recovery from a paralytic's helpless state by simple means within the reach of every sufferer. It is scarcely necessary to say that a remedy which will cure an advanced and complicated case may be employed with still greater confidence where the premonitory symptoms are recognized and treatment begun at once. These symptoms are, briefly: Trembling of the hands; sudden loss of power in arms or legs, frequently affecting one whole side of the body; staggering; partial or entire inability to use the fingers; distortion of the features, sometimes an uncontrollable quivering of the chin; severe pains; difficulty in speech. Frequently the first warning is a vague feeling of headache, vertigo and muscular weakness.

In a recent interview Mr. W. J. L. Hayden gave the following account of his own sufferings and cure: "I truly think," said he, "that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a great medicine, for they cured me when physicians and other remedies had failed to give me the slightest relief. I had been giving too close attention to business, and overwork brought on an attack of nervousness which finally developed into paralysis. There were times when it was impossible for me to move my hands or to get up from a chair. At other times I had partial control of my limbs, but I was afraid to go far from the house for fear I might suddenly become helpless and have to be carried home."

"While I was in this miserable condition I was stricken with malarial fever and confined to bed for four months. I had the best physicians, but, while they relieved my fever, their treatment did not entirely drive the malaria from my system, and they did not help my paralysis in the least."

"I was well nigh despairing of ever being cured when a friend persuaded me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I had finished one box I could see results that encouraged me to buy a second box. My condition kept steadily improving, and when I had taken seven boxes I was cured of paralysis and the malaria was completely driven out of my system. For two years now I have enjoyed the best of health and have attended to business without any interruption."

Mr. Hayden's home is at No. 252 West 29th street, New York City. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many similar cases of paralysis, also locomotor ataxia. They are sold by all druggists. Write the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for details of other cases and for a valuable booklet on the treatment of nervous disorders.
